

TAFT TO MOVE ON GRAND TRUNK

Governor Peabody before any definite action is taken.

I. C. C. Also to Act.

The Interstate Commerce Commission will also, according to reports, be called upon to assist in the investigation of the "deal." John T. Marchand, counsel for the commission, who will represent the board in legal way when the inquiry goes into the merits of the case, by the New Haven has resumed in this city on Monday, stated that the essential facts in relation to the Grand Trunk-New Haven "deal" would be brought out at the hearings.

President Taft was called upon to receive deputations from the most interested new England states by Governor Pothier of Rhode Island immediately after the report of the conference in New York was received by him. An answering telegram from the President, signed by Carmel Thompson, his private secretary, was received by Governor Pothier, declaring the President would meet the deputies Monday morning in the White House.

Governor Fethler ward Governor P. H. follows:

Conference of Rhode Island representatives with President Chamberlain in New York gives no assurance of resumption of work. New England extensions. I am writing President Taft for appointment.

Would suggest that you give Chairman Wood similar letter and request him with delegation to meet Rhode Island commissioners at Washington and wait upon the President together.

The report of Mr. Rice on his conference with President Chamberlain of the Grand Trunk, as forwarded to Governor Fox declared that the Grand Trunk executive said:

There has been no work done

That the suspension of work on the Palmer extension was a part of a general agreement between the New Haven Trunk and was ordered by the directors at London.

That the general resumption of construction work there will be no discrimination in regard to work on the New Haven Trunk.

No Mention of Agreement.

That at his conference with the officials of the New Haven road the matter of the abandonment of the extension had not been considered.

That the board of directors had apparently considered that they were doing a favor to the Southern New England road by agreeing to expend eight or nine million dollars

That the appropriations by the State of Rhode Island and the city of Providence for harbor improvements were made not for the benefit of the Southern New England, but for the benefit of themselves.

That he personally had never favored the Palmer extension.

That the extension of the Grand Trunk into New England was not due to Mr. Hays, but was the project of Mr. Pittsburgh, approved by Mr. Hays. That under normal conditions his road was amply able to finance the extensions.

HUNT NEW YORK

SLAYERS HERE

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Raving identical twins, who had been together since birth, were found dead and mutilated in a pond near Georgetown, Cl., a week ago as Mrs. Carmelita Geraci, of No. 31 East Fortlie street, this city, and established the fact that she had been killed by wild calls, driven into her head as she was.

Fifteen detectives under the personal direction of Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty are searching for three men and a sixteen-year-old girl, who have been missing from the Gerard apartments since the murder. Mrs. John Preston, who made the identification, has told the police important facts which will aid them in running down the slayers.

On the night of Monday, November 4, said Mrs. Preston, she heard sounds of quarrel in the Geracel apartments on the first floor. These were followed by screams Mrs. Preston and two friends tried to get into the rooms occupied by the Geracels but found the door locked. Later in the night further screams were heard and the angry voices of two men. After that the members of the Geracel household disap-

An examination of the Geracci rooms brought to light several long, rusty, blood-stained nails and a blood-stained hammer.

600 MEMBERS OF SOUTHERN CLUB AT DANCE IN COSTUME OF EARLY SEVENTIES

Some 600 members and guests of the Southern Club, an association of persons born south of the Mason and Dixon line, filled the grand ballroom and the breakfast room in the Copple House for the dance at which they enjoyed in costume of the early seventies. "Old-time" and other typically Southern airs were played. Judge William W. Hild, president of the organization, and Mrs. William Gay, founder, were the honored guests. The patronesses were Mesdames Beebe, Van Ness, Stevens and Anderson.

Mr. Karl Muck, director of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, will be the chief guest at a dinner of the Papyrus Club at Young's Hotel on the evening of Wednesday, November 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Peabody of Milton are entertaining a number of young girls invited especially for the dance they gave at the Country Club to introduce their third daughter, Miss Sylvia Peabody.

Harvard and Dartmouth Battle at the Stadium Sturdy Crimson Warriors Favorites Over Green

40,000 People Will See Rival in the Game at the Stadium.

The Tigers made the first move to be loved men. The game will get under way at 2 o'clock and by that time it is expected that 40,000 enthusiastic followers of the two big eleven will be packed in the vast amphitheater. Percy Haggard, who made a wonderful record this season and it is expected that he should be the star of the game in today's great clash.

The followers of the Green, however, are confident and personified and they state that when the smoke of battle has blown over that Dartmouth will be on the losing end of the score. Regardless of which eleven triumphs the spectators are certain to see one of the latest football struggles witnessed on the gridiron this fall.

Green Playing Great Game.

The Dartmouth team has shown remarkable form in all but the game against Princeton. Many experts who witnessed the battle claim that Coach Cavanaugh's men were in the midst of a slump and will perform poorly in the game against the Crimson. However, they did not expect the warriors of the Orange and Black. Harvard will place a mighty team to the field. It was stated in Cambridge today that there was some talk about Captain Percy Wendell starting the contest. But the coaches feared that his injured ankle would be a liability and he was kept out of the battle with Yale on next Sunday. Wendell, however, is one of the finest men playing football and if he is expected to see him remain quiet on the sidelines while his teammates are battling to one of the most important games of the season are very likely to prove a surprise.

John Mory of Dartmouth is also expected to be on the field. He is a very big man and would be a surprise to see him play a prominent role in the clash between the shadows of the gray walls of the stadium.

Dartmouth Squad Arrives. The team arrived in Boston last night forty-three strong and was welcomed away to the Woodmont Hotel in Amesbury, where they will stay till this afternoon. Much could have been expected of the Mory starting the game. It is quite possible that Curtis will lead the battle of the line.

Comparing all the men with the Harvard team, the weight of the eleven is about even. However, the Harvard players on the green squad, weighing only 165 pounds, while the team from Amesbury who plays left guard, weighs 200 pounds and is 6 feet 8 1/2 inches tall.

With the exception of Mory, who is much improved after his injury, the Harvard players are in good physical condition and, as one player remarked, fit to fight the battle of their lives.

The Harvard men, after their victory over the Princeton Tigers, did not fear the game. They are confident that they will win the first string men will start in the game at Dartmouth in an unknown quantity.

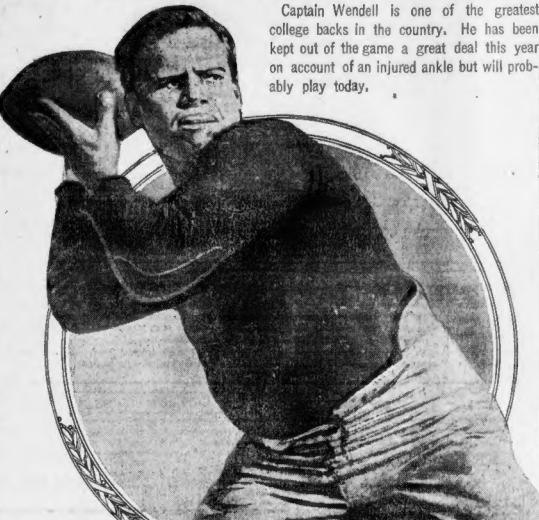

Both teams have improved since their games with Princeton, and should be much better combinations than when they met that team.

The Harvard team has been holding recent practice quite frequently during the past two weeks and are confident that it is possible this season.

Pennings will start the game at center, as he is usually the best man at that position on the green squad. The Dartmouth line is the heaviest, by actual statistics, of any of the principal college squads, and it is feared that the standard bearing that the Harvard men would receive looking the line might subject them to serious injuries, which would prevent them from playing a week from this.

The Dartmouth line and its followers will watch with interest the work of Brinkley. While he remains unharmed there is little doubt as to the result of any game the Harvard eleven may play. A good defense has been built up, and the line will find it difficult to get close enough to interfere with Brinkley or Penning.

O'Brien will start at right end, while

All Hanover With Eleven Green Men Sure of Win

The town of Hanover, students, professors, trustees, and all college employees arrived in Boston yesterday afternoon on a special train. Fully 2,000 came down to see the game, and every man is bringing over with him enthusiasm and confidence.

The football squad, thirty-five strong, departed Boston yesterday at 1:45 o'clock and went immediately by automobile to the Woodmont Park Hotel in Amesbury, where they will stay until the game. As the squad left the train, it was noticed that many lined up, and that they were all in good condition.

Coach Cavanaugh declared he was an optimist in any event. He said that his team would get into the game. The men on the team were all in good condition and were determined to win the game.

"Boggy" Haggard will start the game at left end. This week he was held out of the game from the backfield on the end of the line, and at this position he has made good with his offense. Although it is expected that he will not get into the game, it is expected that he will keep his position, and is expected to be the mainstay of the line.
